Background

There is a need for enhancement of individual leisure as well as organizational productivity. In addition, work styles including the use of telework are reviewed due to COVID-19. And the work environment that empowers all employees including those who raise children and provide nursing care is needed.

Realization of Work-Life Balance

View

The Group creates an environment allowing all employees to continue to work with job satisfaction, to achieve a good work-life balance. We also will develop systems enabling a flexible approach to changes and issues in various life stages. This allows greater efficiency in the work of individuals and improved productivity for organizations, through flexible work styles allowing people to work when they want, where they want.

Outline of actions

The Group is striving to support jobs combined with raising children or family care and achieve flexible working styles, to ensure a good work-life balance.

- Adoption of a system to encourage men to take childcare leave
- Initiatives to prevent employment separation due to child or family care
- Work style reform to improve productivity
- Promoting health management
